Curb appeal

London Cares. Special curbside food-bank collection starts Friday

ANGELA MULLINS

Glen Pearson didn't mince words on Wednesday in describing why the London Cares Curbside Food Drive is important.

"This summer's gonna suck," said Pearson, who operates the London Food Bank with his wife.

While some families are taking vacations, others will be picking up basic provisions at the food bank and spending sunny days looking for jobs. The curbside food drive helps dull the pain, he said, bringing in tons of food during a season that typically sees donations decline.

"This food will get us through this summer. This food will feed those families."

People can participate by placing a bag of nonperishable food on the curb during their scheduled garbage day from Friday to June 15.

Show that you care

- For the complete collection schedule, search "curbside food drive" at London.ca.

Those who live in apartment buildings — or miss curbside pickup — can donate at a Tim Hortons or participating grocery store through June 16.

Marking its 16th year, the drive has averaged about 75,000 pounds of food in the past five years.

More than 58,000 pounds were collected curbside last year, with an additional 29,240 pounds coming from drop-off sites and corporate sponsors. The 15-year collection total stands at a little more than a million pounds.

"Every pound counts," said Jay Stanford, the city's director of environmental programs and solid waste.

"We're going to start off big and end even stronger."

Western's downtown plan would cost taxpayers $35M

Economic committee. University one of 12 to make pitch Saturday for revitalizing London

angela.mullins@metronews.ca

Details about what it would take to create Western University's downtown campus are out as school leaders prepare to make a public pitch to city councillors.

Building the campus would cost London taxpayers about $35 million and would see city hall, Centennial Hall and the civic square between them transferred free of charge to Western by June 30, 2016, university president Amit Chakma writes in a summary of the proposal.

The university wants the buildings to be handed over as "open concept space" with asbestos and other "toxic substances" removed at an estimated taxpayer cost of $25 million. Another $30 million will be needed to renovate the buildings, with Western and taxpayers each footing $10 million of the bill. The rest would come from the provincial and federal governments, under Chakma's plan.

The proposal will be one of 12 fielded Saturday by council's investment and economic prosperity committee.

Committee members put out an open call last month for projects that could spur new jobs in the city. About 40 submissions were received — more than city officials had anticipated.

"Now, it's our job as a committee to find time in the next short while to hear those proposals," said Coun. Matt Brown, vice-chair of the economic prosperity committee, as a series of meetings is being scheduled to hear all the pitches.

Groups that submitted ideas were asked to include a variety of details, including how many jobs could be created and how much investment would be needed from the city. Ultimately, the ideas will be evaluated and ranked as part of London's "prosperity plan" due in September.

Among the 12 groups making pitches Saturday at city hall are Fanshawe College, Small Business Centre and SoHo Medical Centre.

this weekend, Western's proposal requires one of the largest buy-ins from the city and is expected to create 20 new jobs.

Cycling to set a world record on Car Free Day

Spinoff. Event strives to break a 2010 record set by stationary cyclists in Minnesota

angela.mullins@metronews.ca

In March 2010, 1,052 cyclists hopped on stationary bikes in Minneapolis, Minn. — spinning their way into the Guinness Book of World Records for the largest static cycling class.

Now, London's Marty Menard is trying to one up what's been dubbed the "Ride of a Lifetime."

He'll make his record-setting attempt during Saturday's Car Free Day — setting up what's expected to be hundreds of spinning bikes at Dundas and Clarence streets. The free one-hour cycling class will start at noon.

No matter how many people show, Menard's intent on at least one thing.

"I want to put London on the map," the owner of Elite Personal Training Studio and Live 360° said. "Even if we don't break the U.S. record, maybe we can set one for Canada."

Organizing the event hit Menard "instantly" when he was asked for ideas about adding a fitness angle to Car Free Day. "What is Car Free Day about?" he said. "It's about getting on your bike (and) leaving your car at home. This is good for the environment and good for your body."

If he doesn't set a record this year — or even if he manages to pull one off — Menard thinks the idea might have some mileage. "What would be really great is if this kind of becomes our thing" and an annual part of Car Free, he said. Each year, "we (could) try to make it bigger."

Probe. Ornge lawyer denies involvement in marketing deal

A lawyer who worked for Ornge is providing more details about a controversial marketing services deal that some allege was part of a kickback scheme.

Cynthia Heinz told a legislative committee that she wasn't involved in the $4.7-million agreement with AgustaWestland after Ornge agreed to buy 12 of its helicopters.

That contradicts the testimony of another witness, who says Heinz was one of the people responsible for coming up with the marketing agreement. Heinz says she only talked to ousted CEO Chris Mazza about the deal once in 2010, when he asked her why it hadn't been signed yet.

She says there's no way she would have put her reputation and family at risk by doing anything wrong.

Agusta has vehemently denied any wrongdoing in its dealings with Ornge, which have come under scrutiny in the wake of a criminal investigation.

The committee has heard that AgustaWestland paid an Ornge spin-off company $6.7 million — which included the marketing services agreement after it reached a deal to sell 12 helicopters for $144 million.

Under scrutiny

- Employee reaction. Ornge paramedic tells committee he quit in disgust after patient died.

Rick Potter, testified that he convinced Agusta to waive about $10 million in extra fees, but Mazza insisted that they be paid. Ornge ended up paying Agusta $7.2 million in charges, which Potter called "nuts."

Maria Renzella, former chief operating officer of Ornge Global, also testified that Mazza struck a deal to pay Agusta for weight upgrades and wanted a $4.8-million donation in return for "revenue-generating opportunities." She said she was advised by Ornge's lawyers that it couldn't use the money in that way unless Ornge could demonstrate that there was a value for the service being given.

Province can't keep track of those out on bail: AG

The deadly shooting rampage at the Eaton Centre mall in downtown Toronto has prompted the Ontario government to try to find out just how many people are out on bail in the province.

Christopher Husbands, the suspect in the shootings that left one person dead and six others wounded on Saturday, was out on bail at the time and under house arrest.

However, the provincial government has no idea how many others are out on bail, Attorney General John Gerretsen admitted Wednesday.

"Right now, we do not, provincially, have total statistics as to how many people are actually out on bail," Gerretsen told reporters.

"I understand there may be some of that information available within the local court systems in local jurisdictions."

The province has received a lot of inquiries about the number of people on bail since Saturday's deadly rampage, added Gerretsen.

"We're trying to set up a system right now as a result of what happened here, and as a result of a number of inquiries that have been made, to see if we can't get a better handle on how many people are actually out on bail within the province," he said.

tives said the government has a duty to ensure strict oversight of people who don't abide by their bail conditions, but can't do that if it doesn't know how many there are.

"If you can't monitor how well a program is working, how can you say that you are satisfied with the program that exists?" asked PC justice critic

Sylvia Jones. "You also can't make improvements if you don't know whether you've got a 50 per cent success rate or an 80 per cent success rate."

It may be time to consider using electronic ankle bracelets to help monitor people on bail and house arrest, and not just those on probation and parole, said Gerretsen.

"There's a good argument to be made that it should be expanded to bail situations as well," he said.

"I will be speaking with my provincial and federal counterparts on it at our regular meetings in the fall. I can certainly understand the concerns of everyone involved in this."

Jones agreed the ankle bracelets should be used for people on bail or facing house arrest. "Does house arrest work in Toronto? I'm not sure it does," Jones said in an interview. "If there are other tools that we can provide, then I think we as a society have a responsibility to look at them."

Police said Husbands should not have been out of his home at the time of the Eaton Centre shooting, which sent panicked shoppers scrambling for the exits. Husbands, 23, turned himself in to police Monday and was charged with one count of first-degree murder and six of attempted murder.

Sadly for Research in Motion, it's not the BlackBerry being heralded as a giant killer but Microsoft's Windows Phone platform, which research firm IDC says will surpass Apple's iPhones by 2016.

As of this year, Google's Android platform has the global lead with 61 per cent of the smartphone market, followed by Apple with 20.5 per cent, RIM at six per cent and Windows at 5.2 per cent, according to IDC.

By 2016, IDC sees Android at 52.9 per cent, Windows Phone at 19.2 per cent, Apple at 19 per cent and RIM down just a tenth of a percentage

Barrick Gold Corp. has abruptly replaced its chief executive and installed a former U.S. investment banker as co-chairman of its board of directors, saying they will help the company restore its lacklustre stock price.

Survey. Canadians fall deeper in debt

A new bank study suggests the average Canadian household is more than $100,000 in debt and that Canadians have ramped up borrowing in the past five years.

The first annual BMO survey on household debt found that average household debt among Canadians surveyed stands at $112,329, including mortgage, credit card, line of credit and loan debt.

But the bank says so-called good debt like mortgages outweighs less favourable forms of borrowing.

While 25 per cent of those surveyed say they are debt free, 41 per cent say that they have taken on more debt in the past five years as a result of increased spending.

And 54 per cent of respondents said they expect to be debt free in the next five years.

The survey also found that 70 per cent of Canadians believe they can afford to pay down debt by paying more than the minimum, but one-third appear to be stretched with paying only the minimum amounts. The report surveyed 1,507 Canadians in an online poll at the beginning of April.

CHANNELING TV'S FUTURE

HE SAYS...
John Mazerolle
metronews.ca/hesays

NEWS ITEM: Canadian television will expand by at least two stations this fall, further growing this country's vast TV universe and highlighting the importance of specialty stations. Here's a look at some of the proposed new channels that will soon be on Canadian airwaves:

NHLP Classic: Just in time for this summer's expected labour dispute, National Hockey League Players' Association Classic brings you the greatest highlights from the 1994-95 and 2004-2005 work stoppages! Relive the greatest compromises and toughest stonewalling! See Goodenow and Bettman one-on-one! See classic meetings like the nine-hour February 9, 2005, spectacular! See highlight shows like Bettman's Top 10 attempts at a smile! "NHLP Classic: Because it's the Cash."

Fox News Canada: Made by Canadians against Canadians, Fox News Canada provides a fair and balanced look at the pot-smoking, war-avoiding, gay-embracing atheists that make Canada the moral cesspool it is today. Not to be confused with Sun TV, which is patriotic and cheap, Fox News Canada will spend top dollar to let you know that your country sucks. Shows will include The O'Leary and O'Leary Exchange and NDP: Ties to Terror?

Canadian Beauties Corporation: Featuring the best in Canadian exotic dancers from Tracadie to Red Deer, CBC will be equipped with a special "Panic Button" that immediately changes the screen to what appears to be an episode of Mass for Shut-ins.

CanCon

"Gord!, or PBS (Pinsent Broadcasting Station), will have a 100 per cent commitment to the most Canadian of names."

Gord!: According to strict CanCon guidelines, Canadian television is already 65 per cent Gordon-related, but Gord!, or PBS (Pinsent Broadcasting Station), will have a 100 per cent commitment to the most Canadian of names. Gordon Pinsent, Gord Downie, Gordon Sinclair, Gordie Howe, they're all here! Even Gord Stellick! Programming includes And How!, Pinsent-a-Go-Go and Star Trek: Gord.

OLN — Obese Loafers Network: Responding to this country's changing attitudes toward fitness, the Obese Loafers Network will appeal to the average Canadian's inner couch potato, which in most cases is hidden under many, many layers of outer couch potato. Home to best-in-class events like the Halifax Lounge-A-Thon and the Boston Pizza-eating Marathon, OLN will be the leader in inaction television.

CPAC Extreme: CPAC Extreme, or CPAC!, is just like normal CPAC, but with crazy angles, kickin' hosts, and the lady in the sign-language bubble is hot, hot, HOT!!! It's your No. 1 destination for parliamentary videos, live performances and more Hansard than you can handle! Go online to get your "hear, hear" ringtone!

Bike maker shifts into high gear

Felix Guirola waves to people as he takes his self-made 3.45-metre-tall bicycle for a spin through downtown Havana, Cuba, on May 18.

Guirola has been riding tall since 1983, when seeing a tandem bike inspired him to build up instead of out.

Sophie Quick's five days without food or movement explores the relationship between spectator and performer

BACKSTAGE PASS

Amanda Grant
london@metronews.ca

Imagine five days without food, without movement and without human interaction, sitting in a white room as people stop and stare.

For Sophie Quick, this has been reality.

A master of art history student focusing on long-duration performance art, Quick decided that to complete her research she would have to experience a performance firsthand.

"Performance art is rare," she says. "We don't have too much performance art coming to London and there aren't any opportunities for me to even travel to view any. So instead of going and spectating, I am just staging it myself."

On Monday, Quick moved into the Art Lab to stage her performance art exhibition Putting in Time.

Armed with only a bed and some bottled water to sustain her over the five-day performance, Quick will practice silence, solitude and inactivity as she documents the reactions of the audience.

"Performance art requires a different kind of spectator and a different kind of viewing than looking at a painting," Quick says.

"It is so important that the spectator is present. And not just present viewing but present in the moment, not thinking about what they have to do later or their shopping list or errands. A lot of performance artists say that it is in that relationship between the performer and the spectator that the art actually exists."

Today marks the fourth day of Quick's performance, a piece based on the experiences of famous artists Marina Abramović and Chris Burden who have spent between 15 and 22 days in a similar state of isolation.

"I don't expect to know what Burden felt like," Quick says, "But I will know what it feels like to put in five days of just passing time."

Still it is a daunting task for the 28-year-old.

"I am terrified of doing this," said Quick when I spoke to her last week. "I am not an artist and I don't like being the centre of attention. I am worried about not eating because I love food and I'm worried about the boredom."

Sophie Quick's performance Putting in Time is open to the public from noon to 6 p.m. in the Art Lab at Western University.

I'll have more on the Fringe Fest next week.

Bynes charged with DUI

Los Angeles prosecutors have charged actress Amanda Bynes with driving under the influence roughly two months after authorities say she grazed a sheriff's patrol car in an early morning accident. The 26-year-old will be arraigned Wednesday morning in Beverly Hills but doesn't have to attend the hearing. Instead, she can have a lawyer enter a plea. Bynes was arrested April 6 after authorities say she scraped a patrol car making a turn. The misdemeanor complaint filed Tuesday alleges she refused to take a test at the time that could've determined whether she was drunk or under the influence of drugs. Because of her refusal, authorities may suspend her driver's license for a year. Her publicist, Melissa Raubvogel, didn't immediately return an email. Bynes appeared in the Nickelodeon series What I Like About You and the film Easy A.

Double shows, double laughs

Television. A new spin on the talk show and game show — IFC will premiere Comedy Bang! Bang! and Bunk on Friday night

Back-to-back, IFC will soon be premiering what it bills as an anti-talk show Comedy Bang! Bang! and an anti-game show Bunk.

Anti this, anti that — but what they're clearly for is laughs.

It all starts Friday at 10 p.m. EDT with Comedy Bang! Bang!, the inconveniently punctuated twist on late-night talk hosted by Scott Aukerman, based on his podcast of the same name.

CB!B! is an absurdist blend of banter between Aukerman and his guests (first up: Zach Galifianakis, with whom Aukerman has previously teamed on the hilarious Between Two Ferns online videos), plus sketches, filmed shorts (such as a hidden-camera "gotcha" exposé called Tsk-Tsk Attaboy that's dumb enough to fit on Dateline NBC) and other flights of fancy (in the midst of one interview, Aukerman excuses himself to go feed the meter for his car, parked outside in a futuristic world at war).

Fluffy-coiffed Reggie Watts serves as the beats-generating one-man-band and affable sidekick. The show even launches with its own (falling-down-drunk) sommelier. And in a stark departure from talk-show orthodoxy, no one is plugging anything.

Befitting Aukerman's status as an alumnus of the brilliant Mr. Show, CB!B! is tightly formatted and jammed with comic elements, yet loosey-goosey and demented.

Improv is also the name of the game — literally — on Bunk, the companion series that follows at 10:30 p.m.

"It's a game show where none of the questions have answers, where the prizes the contestants are playing for are imaginary, and the scoring is random," says emcee Kurt Braunohler, proudly adding, "I choose the winner arbitrarily." Braunohler, an improv performer and stand-up comic, presides over a trio of contestants each week who, by trade, are also up-and-coming comedians.

What it's like to play the New Girl's (sometimes) guy

Q & A. New Girl's Jake Johnson gives us the low down on playing Nick next to Zooey Deschanel

HEIDI PATALANO
Metro World News in New York

A year ago, most people didn't know who Jake Johnson was. Today, men are stopping him in the street to say, "What the f— k's your problem, dude? That's Zooey Deschanel, dude," as Johnson himself tells it. Since getting his big break on the Citytv sitcom New Girl, the 33-year-old has been routinely harassed for his character's wussy behaviour when it comes to his roommate and perennial lust-object Jess (Deschanel). The will-they, won't-they quality of the relationship has drawn so much attention that #NickandJess became a trending topic on Twitter as the show approached its first season finale.

As Johnson sat down with us to promote his upcoming film Safety Not Guaranteed, co-starring Aubrey Plaza and Mark Duplass, he took some time to analyze the greatest twee-affair of our time.

Metro: So, New Girl. You yell a lot on the show.

Johnson: What I like about playing him is that I don't fully understand him. I know who Jess is. I know who Schmidt is. I'm starting to figure out who Winston is, but I don't know who Nick is and I think it's because — to get all deep and ridiculous — I don't think Nick has any idea who he is. He's wading through the madness of "f— man, I am 30 years old and I have not figured it out and I'm not getting any closer." There's panic and that sucks, so he yells.

What do you know about next season?

Nothing. I don't think they know. I think the reality of our show is that a lot of it exists in between (series creator) Liz Meriwether's ears and she doesn't know yet.

But your character and Zooey Deschanel's seemed to get closer at the end of the season.

For my storyline, I think there was a Nick-Jess thing and then they went really far away from it. But I think that was Liz. I think she didn't want it for a while. She thought at the beginning, that it was turning too Nick-Jess. And she was like, "I don't want this to be a relationship show." But then I think she went in her own mental evolution of it, I think she was like, "well, I want those characters to be together a little bit more." And so at the end of the season, they got really back together. People say, "Oh, I know exactly where the show's going. It's going to be this by season four." But I talk to Liz on a regular basis. We're friends. She doesn't have all the answers.

Where do you want to see those characters go?

I had times with Nick where I was like, "Eh, I don't like this guy." I know what he does. I enjoy playing him, but like, stop crying. Stop being so nasty.

And that was the beginning of "this dude is way weirder than I imagined." And I like weird people, so I was like, "OK, OK, you're going to get weirdies aren't you pal?"

Do you think Jess and Nick could work as a couple?

They don't get along great, so in my opinion, they're more of a Sam and Diane from Cheers where everything about Sam and Diane, they were opposites. Nick is a realist going towards pessimism, not infatuated with the world, does not think sparkles cure everything, does not sing and dance through life. And Jess is, and they're both a little bit too far in one direction.

Well thanks for theorizing with us. Can't wait to see the next season!

It's still really new enough for me that it's interesting for me too, on my end and I don't feel ownership of it, so I wouldn't be having this talk if I was the writer, where I'd be like "I'm so interesting, how I'm doing this." I'm just a fan like everyone else.

John Mayer is finally humiliated

With a new album coming out, John Mayer had been trying to play nice in the media — but he's got his foot back in his smug little mouth again after an interview with Rolling Stone in which he whines about ex-girlfriend Taylor Swift's song about their split, Dear John.

He calls the hit "humiliating," taking issue with the then 20-year-old's "cheap songwriting." "It's abusing your talent to rub your hands together and go, 'Wait till he gets a load of this!' That's bulls—."

Dude: Either un-write Your Body is a Wonderland, or stop talking right now.

Elton John wants Gaga to eat more

Elton John is worried about Lady Gaga.

"She is frail, and she doesn't eat when she should, and she's a girl, and it's tougher for a girl," John tells the Guardian in an interview.

"She works really hard. She will be in Denmark one night and Saudi Arabia the next. I know how tiny she is and I do worry about her, yes."

And John, who tapped Gaga to be the godmother to his 1-year-old son, isn't the only one concerned, he says: "I look at Gaga and I think, 'How does she do it?' I talk to her mom and dad about it. They worry."

Why did Miley Cyrus want a ring on it?

scene@metronews.ca

Although she's been rocking a sizable diamond on her left hand all spring, yesterday Miley Cyrus confirmed that she's engaged to actor Liam Hemsworth.

"I'm happy to share this news with you all. I feel like all my dreams are coming true," the 19-year-old tweeted yesterday.

The news comes after Cyrus took a break from recording and acting to spend time with Hemsworth, 22, and do uncomfortable interviews about their sex life.

Now, why would a 19-year-old who is not pregnant or struggling with rent money get married?

Good question.

At first, we were worried good old-fashioned love still existed and had been listening this whole time, but it's not quite that simple.

You see, these two met on the set of The Last Song, a 2010 drama based on a novel by Nicholas Sparks — the same Nicholas Sparks who penned the most graphic of emotional girl porn, The Notebook.

At least she fell in rapid zombie love with a cute Australian actor and not the creepy guy sweeping up popcorn.

Summer wedding for Brangelina?

Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie are going to have a summer wedding, according to E! News.

"Word on the street is that Brad and Angie will make it official late this summer,"

Ryan Seacrest announced on his radio show, quoting E! News correspondent Ken Baker. Speculation still puts the location of the famous couple's nuptials at their estate in the South of France.

McCarthy's son still misses Jim Carrey

Jenny McCarthy says the hardest part of her split from Jim Carrey has been how attached her autistic son, Evan, had gotten to the actor.

"I've tried to ask (Jim) numerous times (to see Evan), because my son still asks," McCarthy tells Howard Stern in an interview.

"I tell (Evan) that someday you'll cross paths, meet again, (but) it's hard. He's been in therapy. It's a process, he's working on it."

But McCarthy, who lets Evan watch Carrey's films, still thinks breaking up with Carrey was a good idea: "Jim's a dark guy," she says.

California-based designer Trina Turk PROVIDED

Her bold use of colours, graphic patterns and classic silhouettes are favoured by the likes of Hollywood starlets Kristen Bell and Leighton Meester. And this summer the rest of us can add a coveted Trina Turk piece or two to our wardrobes without breaking the bank, thanks to a partnership between the California designer and Banana Republic.

The result is a limited-edition summer capsule collection, made up of nearly 60 pieces (think flirty dresses and printed tunics) embodies the laid back yet chic southern California resort esthetic captured in Turk's design philosophy.

Here, the fashion doyenne shares some sage summer fashion advice:

What colours should women incorporate into their wardrobe to stay on trend this summer? Summer is an opportunity to lighten up and wear colour. I'm definitely expecting to see orange and turquoise as two of the top colours. I also love the combination black and white prints mixed with bright coloured tops or bottoms.

What should women who are self-conscious about baring their arms and legs wear during warm weather? Bringing in a fun printed maxi dress or lightweight blouse in bright colours or a graphic print allows you to celebrate the ease and sophistication of summer with pieces most flattering to your silhouette. The three-quarter sleeve Wren blouse in the Pisces print and the black and white zazy zebra printed tunic top are done in lightweight fabrics that work well in the heat of summer.

Do you follow any fashion rules? If so, can you share a few?

The most important fashion rule is to figure out the silhouettes that flatter your body type and stick with them. Some trends will be great for you, others not. You don't have to jump on every trend bandwagon that comes along.

If someone could only buy two items from your capsule collection which ones would you recommend and why?

You definitely want to get at least one dress and one accessory piece. There are six great dresses in a variety of styles, prints and colours. If I had to pick one it would be the one-shoulder "Chai" dress that we did in the blue Coachella print.

My favourite accessory of this collection is the enamel bangle that comes in several great colour combinations.

Anchorage, Alaska wins Worst Dressed title

Anchorage residents are apparently not dressing to impress. That's the upshot of Travel and Leisure Magazine's reader poll, which put the residents of Alaska's largest city at the bottom when it comes to being on the top of style. The magazine ran an online poll asking readers to rank 35 American cities on such things as best nightlife, best burgers, best New Year's Eve celebrations, etc. By a three-tenths of a point, Anchorage landed just below Salt Lake City for having the worst-dressed residents.

"I think it's a little ridiculous, to be honest," said Hillary Walker, the assistant manager at lulu e. bebe fashion boutique in Anchorage. "I think dressing well is about feeling comfortable, experimenting, expressing yourself through your clothing. I think people in Anchorage do a great job with that."

Decor ideas. Ever wonder what message the colour of your front door sends?

DESIGN CENTRE
Karl Lohnes
home@metronews.ca

Colour is a powerful way to send messages, whether on the clothing we wear, the furnishings and decor we choose or the colour we paint our front door. Since that entranceway is the welcome entry into our homes, choosing the right colour is a way to welcome company and to tell people a little bit about ourselves.

With that in mind, here's a few trending colours, what they say about you and where you should live if you like a particular colour.

Red
Gives a punch that says you have energy, passion and presence. A great colour to ward off potential break-ins, but not so great in a quiet, gated community.

Orange

You are not extravagant and rather frugal. You are an attention seeker but a very warm and exciting person. Great for a community/neighbourhood counsellor or leader.

Black

Likely, you are serious, traditional and strong; someone with substance lives inside your house. But black can also mean mourning, old and death. It's the perfect colour for downtown or stately living.

Green

You are a promoter of good health and good luck, but green can also mean jealousy. Great for young families as it also indicates fertility and stress-free living. Good colour for a farm or country house.

Brown
You like isolation and privacy when you're home. It also indicates you are reliable. Brown is a great colour for living in a high-density townhouse or a condo.

Yellow

You are cautious and careful. But yellow can also stir anger and frustration as it fatigues the eye due to the amount of light it reflects. It's great for family homes with young school children.

Purple

You are the emotional type. Wealth, wisdom, exotic and artificial are other words that describe the colour purple. Good for an older person.

Blue

You are secure, safe and trustworthy. Blue can evoke sadness and aloofness and is the colour of weight loss. Good colour for a single person looking for a mate.

FROM ORIGINS BY BENJAMIN MOORE (ORIGINSPAINT.CA), HERE'S A FEW OF THE BEST COLOURS TO PAINT THE FRONT DOOR:

Open to change

How to pick the perfect front-door colour

Look at the body of your house and its colour overall. Is it ruddy-brown, orange-brick, beige or grey? Your front door should be an opposite colour in order to stand out and look special. For instance, if your house is an orange-brown brick then choose a green colour for your front door. The brighter or duller the brick colour the brighter or duller the green will be.

Three things to consider:

1. The garage door, siding or window trims are never painted the same colour as the front door.
2. Painting the frame trim around the door the same colour will help give the door a larger presence.
3. Painting the inside of your front door the same as the outside will add a punch of style to your foyer.

Mexican-spiced gobble gobble kicks up tacos

This recipe serves four. THE CANADIAN PRESS/H.O

Ingredients

- 5 ml (1 tsp) ground cumin
- 5 ml (1 tsp) oregano
- 5 ml (1 tsp) chili powder
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) sea salt
- 45 ml (3 tbsp) olive oil
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) freshly chopped cilantro
- 500 g (1 lb) boneless skinless turkey fillets
- 1/2 small red onion, sliced
- 2 carrots, peeled and very thinly sliced
- 2 jalapenos, sliced (ribs and seeds removed)
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) cider vinegar
- 5 ml (1 tsp) sugar
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) salt
- 500 ml (2 cups) shredded cabbage
- 8 flour tortillas (15 cm/6 inches diameter)
- Suggested garnishes: cilantro sprigs, lime wedges, avocado slices

A classic Mexican spice mix of cumin, oregano and chili is combined in a paste and used to coat the turkey before it goes on the grill.

Topped with a crunchy, tangy slaw, these tacos taste like the kind you would find in taquerias.

1. In a large resealable bag, combine the cumin, oregano, chili powder, salt, olive oil and cilantro, rubbing all of the ingredients together to make a paste.

2. Add the turkey fillets and shake to thoroughly coat the turkey. Let this mixture sit for 30 minutes or up to 1 day.

3. In another bag, combine the red onion, carrots, jalapenos, vinegar, sugar and salt. Let this sit at room temperature for 30 minutes, tossing it occasionally.

3. Grill the turkey fillets over medium-high heat until they are browned and cooked through, this will take about 5 minutes per side. Transfer to cutting board and let rest for 5 minutes before slicing.

4. Toss the carrot mixture with the cabbage. Divide the grilled turkey fillets and cabbage among the warmed grilled tortillas. Garnish each taco with cilantro and avocado and serve them with a side of lime wedges and coarse salt.

NHL. New Jersey pushes back to avoid sweep and spoil Los Angeles's Stanley Cup party at Staples Center

Put the coronation on hold.

The Los Angeles Kings will have to wait at least three more days for another shot at becoming true hockey royalty after Adam Henrique kept New Jersey alive in the Stanley Cup final. His late goal secured a 3-1 victory for the Devils in Game 4 on Wednesday.

The New Jersey rookie, who scored in overtime to end the Eastern Conference final, showed poise in kicking the puck up to his stick before beating Jonathan Quick high at 15:29 of the third period.

That forced cup keepers Phil Pritchard and Craig Campbell to put the trophy back in its case. Game 5 of the final goes Saturday at Prudential Center in Newark, N.J.

Until the late winner, this series had the feel of a sweep. Fans came ready to celebrate what would have been the first championship for the Kings in their 45-year history and there was every reason to believe they'd deliver after methodically storming through the playoffs.

New Jersey's Patrik Elias and the Kings' Drew Doughty traded third-period goals in an entertaining game before Henrique bagged the winner. Ilya Kovalchuk scored into an empty net.

The sellout crowd at Staples Center was again ready for the occasion, sending up a spine-tling cheer as “It's Cup Time!” was splashed on the scoreboard before the puck dropped. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Morrow gets third shutout of season

Brandon Morrow pitched a two-hitter for his third shutout of the season, and Jose Bautista and Rajai Davis homered Wednesday night as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Chicago White Sox 4-0.

Morrow (7-3) allowed singles in the second and the eighth to A.J. Pierzynski and retired 14 straight at one point. He gave up his only two walks in the ninth, to Adam Dunn and Alejandro De Aza, and struck out five, including Dayan Viciedo to end it.

He showed no effects from his right shin, which was bruised right in his last start a week ago. In that game, he had to be helped off the field in the seventh inning after being hit by a line drive off the bat of Baltimore's Wilson Betemit.

Ace Halladay not going to rush back

Roy Halladay is continuing to recover from a shoulder injury as planned after a second opinion confirmed the original diagnosis for the Phillies' ace.

The two-time Cy Young winner is expected to miss between six to eight weeks with a strained latissimus dorsi muscle on the right side of his back. Halladay will be shut down for three weeks before he begins a throwing program. He went on the Philadelphia disabled list on May 29.

"The important thing is just knowing that a week could save me a month," Halladay said Wednesday. "As much as I want to be back, I want to make sure that when I am back, it's not something I have to address later."

Euro 2012 players told to 'go out and entertain us'

Soccer. UEFA president hopes scrutiny can finally shift from host nations to the matches on field

Now, finally, UEFA President Michel Platini wants the players to take centre stage when the European Championship kicks off on Friday.

Soccer has almost been ignored during a turbulent five years for Poland and Ukraine as they sought to vindicate UEFA's decision to take its showpiece 16-nation tournament to eastern Europe.

Now the former France great, who captained and coached his country, wants the teams to seize the headlines.

"I say to the players, 'Go out and entertain us,'" Platini said on Wednesday. He spoke at the National Stadium in Warsaw — one of many rebuilding projects delivered behind schedule — where Poland will open Euro 2012 against 2004

Racism response

- Platini promised that referees will stop European Championship matches if players suffer abuse from fans, as questions on racism in Poland and Ukraine dominated a news conference Wednesday to launch the tournament.

- Platini said UEFA has empowered referees to "temporarily stop the game and finally cancel the game if this racism keeps rearing its head."

champion Greece.

"What I would like now after (five) years of work, is to be able to calmly watch the games, to give the ball over to the players and let them get on with it," said Platini, who lifted the trophy in 1984.

The potential story lines are rich and deep for arguably the best international tourna-

Can World Cup winner Spain become the first nation to successfully defend its European title, and further define an era of Barcelona-inspired greatness?

Will a still young Germany team overcome the Spain-shaped obstacle which keeps blocking its title runs?

Can the Netherlands rediscover its 'Total Football' roots and reconnect with neutral fans dismayed by its negative, aggressive tactics that marred the 2010 World Cup final loss to Spain.

Platini echoes the popular wisdom that two favourites stand above the rest.

"These are Germany and Spain if they play at 100 per cent of their level," Platini told reporters. "If they don't, there are a lot of teams which can beat them." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NBA. James faces familiar scenario with his season on the line in Boston

LeBron James appreciates the irony.

Matching up against the Boston Celtics, on the road, with the season on the line. He faced it in 2008 and lost. He faced it in 2010 and lost, removing his Cleveland Cavaliers jersey for the final time as he left the floor that night.

And now in a championship-or-bust season for the Miami Heat, James heads back to Boston for another win-or-else game.

"It is fitting," James said.

The Celtics lead the Heat

3-2 in the Eastern Conference finals, and on Thursday night will look to clinch a third trip in five years to the NBA finals.

If they succeed in Game 6 — or Game 7, if it comes to that — all three of those most recent Boston trips to the title round would come at James' expense.

His first five games at Boston resulted in three wins. His 19 games there since have also resulted in three wins.

No team, maybe no other building, has befuddled James as much as the Celtics and the arena they call home. One more loss on Thursday, and his ninth season will end as the last eight did — without a championship.

I'll Have Another draws post 11 for Belmont

Horse racing. Horse's trainer happy with starting post for Triple Crown bid

Canadian-owned I'll Have Another will go for the Triple Crown from post No. 11 in the 12-horse Belmont Stakes field Saturday.

J. Paul Reddam's horse has been installed as the 4-5 morning-line favourite, the first time in his eight-race career that he has held top spot in the odds.

Team Reddam was happy with Wednesday's draw at Belmont Park.

"Being in the 11 hole, we're able to kind of see how the pace sets up," trainer Doug O'Neill said. "If they're crawling, we'll be hopefully leading the crawl. And if they're flying, we'll be sitting in behind the horse flying."

I'll Have Another started in the No. 19 spot in the 20-horse Kentucky Derby and No. 9 in the 11-horse Preakness.

I'll Have Another is bidding to become the first Triple Crown winner since Affirmed in 1978. Since then, 11 horses have won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness only to stumble over the 1.5 miles of Belmont dirt.

Even rivals are talking up the Canadian-owned entry's chances of becoming the 12th horse to win the Triple Crown.

"Several good horses in here but obviously I'll Have Another's the horse to beat, he's for real," said Chad Brown, trainer of Street Life. "A horse is going to have to run the race of his life to beat him."

New York Racing Association analyst Andy Serling says the lightly raced I'll Have Another has a shot to do more than just join the exclusive Triple Crown club.

"He has a chance to really be a horse that they'll say in history he was a very deserving Triple Crown winner," he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS
